

New Members Join Wayside Board

Friday, February 17, 2006

FRAMINGHAM -- Wayside Youth & Family Support Network welcomed two new members to the Board of Directors, while bidding farewell to two retiring members.

The Rev. J. Anthony Lloyd of Marlborough, and Caraline Levy of Framingham, will serve two-year terms on the Board, replacing Claire Bryant of Arlington and Adrian Haugabrook of Framingham.

The Rev. Dr. J Anthony Lloyd chairs Wayside's Public Relations Committee. Lloyd has served as the pastor of the Greater Framingham Community Church for almost 14 years. In addition, he continues to serve as an adjunct faculty member of Gordon Conwell Theological Seminary of South Hamilton, MA. Dr. Lloyd serves on numerous boards and committees throughout Metrowest and the United States. His insight, integrity and knowledge of the community are especially welcomed.

Caraline Levy, MBA is a life-long resident of Framingham and attended the University of Hartford. Beginning her career at Automatic Data Processing in Waltham, she continues as a full-time mother of two.

Caraline has been a Fresh Air host, school volunteer, and reading and ESL teacher through the Literacy Volunteers of America. She also volunteers at the Metrowest Jewish Community Center and Danforth Museum of Art, bringing her business skills to fundraising, marketing and grant writing efforts. Caraline chairs the Program Committee, where her business accumen, new ideas and great enthusiasm are already having an impact.

Carrie Johnson, who joined the Board in 2004, has accepted the role of Vice Chairperson. Carrie is a well-known Framingham entrepreneur with extensive writing and business skills, and has been the recipient of multiple business awards. Carrie now serves on several Boards, including the Board of the Center for Women in Enterprise.

Claire Bryant reluctantly stepped down after serving many years on the Board as Chair, Vice Chair and Chair of the Board Program Committee. An Arlington resident, Claire joined the Board of Directors in 1996 when Children's Behavioral Healthcare merged with Wayside. Claire is a retired Arlington schoolteacher, and is looking forward to traveling and visiting her children and grandchildren.

Adrian K. Haugabrook, Ed.D. served the Board of Directors for a number of years as Chair of the Board Development Committee. Dr. Haugabrook, a Framingham resident, is the Director of Citizen Schools University, and previously held the position of Assistant Dean of Students at UMASS Boston. Adrian travels extensively through his position at Citizen Schools, and is raising an active young family in Framingham. We will miss his wisdom and professionalism.

Eric L. Masi, Wayside President and CEO, said "We are delighted to have such talent joining us on the Board. Wayside enjoys a reputation as an innovator in providing cutting edge human services to the residents of Massachusetts, and though we are sad to lose Claire and Adrian, we are delighted that Caraline and Rev. Lloyd have volunteered to join us. Their combined talents with those of the rest of the Board set us up for success in the years ahead, and we look forward to making the journey with them."

Wayside Youth & Family Support Network is a non-profit, nationally accredited human service agency dedicated to achieving the highest standards of quality and integrity in providing leading edge counseling, family support, residential and educational services for building strength, hope and resiliency in youth, families and communities.
